Rep. Giles Pledges Start Of Rt. 28 Construction

Will Begin By Nov. 1; Funds Are Available

Construction, beginning the relocation of Route 28, will become a reality by Nov. 1.

Rep. Frank S. Giles Jr. flatly guaranteed this week that construction will begin by that date. He said it will include a highway from the New Hampshire line to the Merrimack river and a bridge across the river into West Andover.

Whether any additional construction can be authorized, however, depends on the fate of a $150,000,000 bond issue before the legislature this week.

Money Available

Rep. Giles explained that money enough exists to build the road to the river and construct the bridge. That money comes from a 1954 bond issue of $138,000,000.

Lowell Jct. Is Recommended For Industry

The planning board has received a report recommending an industrial area in Lowell junction and another, of limited type, in the River rd. section.

The report, from Consultant Nord W. Davis and Engineer Clinton F. Goodwin, was made in relation to the proposed location of the new Route 28 and its interchanges.

The planning board took no action on the report.

It had asked the two men to make recommendations for the locations of interchanges in the town, in relation to industrial as well as other factors.

Industry Is Key

The report said the state will pay attention to requested changes in interchanges when there is an established, or proposed industrial area to be serviced. It also pointed out that the town of Wilmington has an industrial area

And we make it
simple for you

The average man today should carry several kinds of insurance. He's foolish not to—the cost is so little, considering the protection it gives.

His house, his place of business his other possessions, his family . . . all call for insurance of various kinds.

He should have insurance against loss by fire, theft and lawsuits. He should be protected against accidents to himself and family. He should be protected in case he or his family causes accidental injury to others.

There are at least 100 kinds of insurance protection today. The subject can become quite complex. But we eat, sleep and dream insurance, and it's simple to us.

We can keep it simple for you.

Youngsters Have Fun At Carnival

Gold ribbons were awarded four youngsters at the playground carnival Tuesday.

They won the coveted award for their activities and behavior at their respective playgrounds during the summer.

Big Day of Fun

A big crowd attended the affair, which saw a morning full of track and field events and an afternoon jammed with carnival fun. Twenty booths were constructed and manned by the children, as their "customers" used peanuts instead of money to play games and take chances at the typical midway attractions.

Levesque, 60 North st., North District.

Booth Prizes

First prize for the best booth at the carnival was won by Virginia Ann Snyder with an igloo ring toss; second went to John Gillespie and James Thomson for a car race game and a tie for third place was declared between a clown construction booth by the LaVoie family and a roulette wheel operated by Jackie Gorrie and Douglas Stevens.

Competition Winners

Winners of the intra-playground competitions were, checkers, ages 7-9, Phyllis Riley, Central; checkers, age 10-12, Wendy Sandberg, Central; checkers, 13 and over, George Connors, Indian Ridge.

Mrs. Wescott was taken to the hospital from the Lawrence General hospital on Monday. She is the wife of Emery M. Wescott, a chemist.

With three reported cases on the records, Dr. William V. Emmons, chairman of the board of health, has commented that Andover now is 200 percent ahead of other years. It is the first time that there has been more than one case of polio here in a year, he explained.

Frye Village Home

This is another old scene from Frye Village days. It was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, showing Mrs. Taylor and her daughter, Robertina, and one of their prize collies. It was located at the corner of Lowell and Poor streets. It isn't quite the corner as we know it but as the streets were laid out then, this would be the first drive off Lowell st. to the left and the entrance to the William Wood estate. The house is still standing and has undergone a few changes. It is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson of Balmoral st. This is the spot where Mr. Wood had the house moved when he was building the entrance to his estate.

Recalls Frye Village

I recently received a very interesting letter from a 77-year-old gentleman from Coranado, Cal., who had lived here over 40 years ago. On reading the June 30 copy of the Townsman, he noticed the picture of the main street of Frye village, which brought back many memories. Andrew May, the writer of the letter, drew up a very informative map showing the exact location of homes and the complete layout of the village as he remembers it. His home was located just about where Woodworths garage is now.

Anyone interested in seeing the map may call me and I will be glad to lend it out.

Farewell Party

Mrs. Arthur Jowett of Binney st. was hostess Monday evening at a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Otto Metzner of Lawrence, plan to make their home in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Those present at the party were Mrs. Bertha Lutz, Mrs. Paul Veit, Mrs. Harriet Veit, Mrs. Dora McNee, Mrs. William Crowley, the hostess and the guests of honor.

If the 1955 bond issue, calling for $150,000,000, is approved, he pointed out, there will be no worry about funds for the remainder of the highway.

Failure to approve the current bond issue would mean a considerable delay in construction of the remainder of the highway, from West Andover towards Boston. Rep. Giles explained that money for that work would have to be sought in the 1956 legislature.

Rep. Giles said he has the assurances of Commissioner Volpe that work will be started on the northern end of the relocation—meaning Methuen and West Andover.

A Leader Is Badly Needed

(Conclusion of the Series)

Industrial development may not be the great headache that some persons imagine.

For there are several methods which may be used in developing an area.

In some communities, the responsible group seeks individual business firms. The selling job is long and the number of successful "sales" is few compared with the effort expended.

Other communities buy land through private non-profit corporations, as described earlier in this series, build factories and then sell or lease to industry.

Other communities have prevailed on commercial real estate developers to come in and buy land. The commercial firm then puts up buildings and sells or leases them. The community, then, does only the initial selling job and then waits, letting the commercial firm spend its money and sell the space. But this system too has its drawbacks — for sometimes a commercial firm buys land only to let it sit idle for some years. And, regrettably, sometimes land-owners try to hold up the commercial firm for outrageous prices, causing negotiations to collapse.

Whatever the method used, however, we stress again that information is needed before any sort of sales job can begin. The development group should be formed now so that all possible data will be ready when the area for industrial development is chosen and zoned. Then action can be taken without delay.

This group would have the added responsibility of choosing the method by which the land could be properly developed — by individuals, by commercial firms, by a private, non-profit corporation or by any other practical means.

At this time there is a lot of talk about industrial development and very little action.

It seems obvious that all are aware of the problem, for they talk about it often, yet there is need of some one person who will be the sparkplug — the man to galvanize others out of debate into action.

Let that man step forward. He is badly needed.

RECOMMEND LOWELL JCT. FOR INDUSTRY

near Lowell junction and desires an interchange there.

Dascomb Road

The report did not recommend abandoning the Dascomb rd. interchange, as proposed by the selectmen. Rather, it said: "The interval between interchanges, in case this change in alignment and location were followed, need not affect the location or number of interchanges originally planned by the department of public works".

On Lowell Junction

The report said, in part, "In our opinion and after examination of the area through which Route 28 is presently proposed, we find that it would be desirable, if the town favors same, to establish an industrial district in the extension of the existing industrial district in Ballardvale, covering all lands south of River st. and the railroad and bounded by the east by the town of Wilmington and on the south and west by the town of Tewksbury".

Second Area

"We also feel that a restricted or limited type of industrial district might be created in the area bounded generally by River rd., Chandler rd. and North st., through which area Route 28 seems now projected. This opinion is further strengthened by the fact that the city of Lawrence is considering the creation of a small industrial district in the southwesterly section of Lawrence near the location mentioned above.

Great Value

"In view of the relatively small areas now zoned as industrial in the town and the new approach to industrial planning and development, it would appear that great benefit might accrue to the town if the areas were carefully considered by your board at a very early date in order to make your contact with the state authorities most effective."

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 years ago — August, 1905

A new tar sidewalk has been laid from the corner of Elm st. across High st. for convenience of Tyer Rubber company employees.

Mrs. James H. Merrill celebrated her 92nd birthday this week. She is the town's oldest resident.

There was a large crowd at the Baptist church Sunday school picnic last Sunday at Haggett's pond. Many amusements were available for the children and a box lunch was served at noon.

Everyone is complaining this week about the dry spell. Brooks that have always maintained at least a small trickle of water in the summer have dried up completely. Wells are also going dry in alarming numbers.

Members of the Play school travelled to the Pines this week by trolley. Miss Anna Abbott made the trip possible.

The mayor of Lawrence, members of his water department and the selectmen met this week. Lawrence asked that they be supplied water from Andover during the winter. The selectmen refused the request after considerable discussion.

Henry A. Bodwell was elected president of the Athletic association Wednesday night. About 15 men attended the meeting. They discussed plans for the coming seasons. It was reported that the new clubhouse is almost ready. It is being built by the park commissioners.

Many local persons are on the committee or are judges for the 85th annual exhibition of the Essex Agricultural society.

Former commander Peter D. Smith attended the 37th annual reunion of the 1st Massachusetts Heavy Artillery association at Salem Willows recently.

25 years ago — August 1930

One young man is in the hospital this week in serious condition as a result of an accident Sunday night on High st. near Burnham rd. He and another 19-year-old were in a new packard which crashed into a tree after hitting several smaller trees and glancing off a post. The man in the hospital was trapped in the burning vehicle but was rescued by Ivan and Oscar Sorenson of Burnham rd., who heard the crash.

There will be a special town meeting Aug. 27 to act on three articles. One calls for an appropriation of $50,000 for board of public works use and to relieve unemployment; a second one asks for $5000 for brush cutting projects and a third calls for $5000 to add to the Union st. repair project voted at the annual town meeting. Matthew Burns is the petitioner on the first two articles.

The first official frost of the season was reported at Shawsheen Wednesday morning. The thermometer at the traffic booth read 37. Only two weeks ago, it was at 87.

Mothers are busy arranging the playgrounds' annual ice cream supper. It is a money-making project for the apparatus fund.

The Congregational conference on the Isles of Shoals held a memorial service this week for the Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, pastor of South church, who died recently.

The third water pageant of the season was held at Camp Andover last weekend.

The married men and single men of the Knights of Columbus Council 1078 will meet in a baseball game tonight at the playground. John Cussen manages the single men's team and Past Grand Knight M. A. Burke is manager of the married men's nine.

10 years ago — August, 1945

Andover celebrated the Japanese victory as did every other city and town. An impromptu parade formed from the square, with countless boys and girls riding on the fire equipment. Horns sounded and the sirens lent their noise to the celebration. Services were held at St. Augustine's church and at Christ church. Wednesday was a holiday, with everything in town closed down.

Miss Angie Dantos was elected a home economics teacher at Pynchard High school at a special school committee meeting Tuesday night. The board also accepted two resignations.

Averel W. Harnden, discharged engineer at the pumping station, said the board of public works has refused to give him a public hearing. Mr. Harnden said there would be a lot of information come out at such a hearing. The board has hired a former town engineer for the pumping station. Focal point of the fuss seems to be over rising pumping costs.

The town meeting-appointed recreation committee met this week for the first time. The members are to study the recreational facilities and needs in the town.

The board of health is planning to call for a civil service list for assistant plumbing inspector. The job has been vacant for a year.

The board of public works has opened Haggett's pond to boating and fishing. The pond is the source of the town drinking water. Permits will be issued only to residents of the town and must be issued separately for each sport.

Hydrants have been flushed out and other work done by the water department as a result of complaints from all over town. Folks have complained of the bad taste and smell of the water.

Donald Goodwin and William Mansur of Bangor, Me., have been visiting the former's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nason of Andover st.

Call For Proposals On P. O. Site In Shawsheen Village

Proposals for leasing postoffice quarters in Shawsheen will be received at the main postoffice until Sept. 15.

Postmaster Stephen A. Boland announced this week that the request for lease proposals is a routine matter. Under department regulations, when a lease is due to expire on present quarters, there is a general request for proposals so that anyone with building space may indicate an interest in leasing the space to the government.

He said the current lease on Shawsheen's quarters expires in October, 1956. Further information on the matter, Mr. Boland, said, can be obtained from him at the main postoffice.

PRAYING MANTIS ARE HERE AGAIN

The Praying Mantis are here again.

The long, green bugs with the pincer-like front feet were seen in considerable numbers along Main st., particularly near store awnings where flies are likely to congregate. The bugs are sudden death to flies, catching them with their front feet.

Youngsters were seen collecting the tame insects from store fronts.

When asked what he did with them, one lad exclaimed "It's just like a dog or a fish".

We bet Mother will have a different reaction.

Will Complete Road Tarring By Weekend

The town's road tarring program will be virtually completed by this weekend.

Edward R. Lawson, superintendent of public works, said he expects most of the work to be finished by the weekend, although there may be some further work done in the fall.

Streets tarred during the past week or scheduled for this week include Bartlet st., Park st., Gould rd., part of Chestnut st., Essex st., Shawsheen rd. up to Stevens st., Beech cir., Brechin ter., Lower School st. and Railroad ave.

The town has tried a new asphalt mix - "Rode-Rite" - instead of tar, on some streets. Mr. Lawson explained that many towns and cities are trying the asphalt, which is somewhat cheaper than tar.

Youngsters Have Fun Making Puppets In Library Classes

If someone tells you your nose is too big, it's likely to provoke a fight.

And if you are told your right leg is too short, it's probably taken as an unkind comment on physical disability.

But when those remarks are passed around at the Memorial Hall library - no one thinks twice about them.

Lest anyone think the courteous library staff has changed its ways, we should point out that puppets have ears, but can not hear.

And the youngsters hearing those remarks just grin or perhaps scowl in perplexity.

For they are the young folks who have been making puppets at the library during the summer months - and the comments that would be fight-provoking if said about humans just make them work harder to correct and improve their puppet.

Some 35 boys and girls have been working, in four groups, on as varied a set of projects as can be imagined. Two classes, for older and younger children, were held in June. Two more are just completing their work . . . or the first part of it, at least.

For the puppets they have completed will be used in special plays during the fall and winter, according to Miss Margaret Lane, children's librarian.

Thus, all the work of the summer months will be put to good use later in the year.

Characters from Peter Pan, Red Riding Hood, The Five Chinese Brothers, Sleeping Beauty, Tom Sawyer Master of Our Masters, and others will come alive as their young owners create their own version of the stories. As Miss Lane explains it, no scripts are written for the plays - the youngsters just say what they think the characters would say.

The young puppeteers seem to have a lot of fun creating their puppets under the direction of Miss Lane and Miss Ruth Sullivan, a Mount Holyoke student who is spending her third summer at the library.

Occasionally, to be sure, a wolf howl or a crescendo of laughter echo up the library stairs. But it isn't often that any of the youngsters creates enough disturbance to be asked to leave. For they are seriously interested in their work.

The younger class just finishing its puppets includes Donald Boulanger, Denise Puma, Carol Hill, Ann McGinty, Thomas Abbott and Linda Hill. Miss Sullivan has been working with the group.

Miss Lane has been teaching the older youngsters, who include Simone Drouin, Charles Smith, Teddy Smith, Virginia Abbott, Barbara Buchan, Pamela Yancy, Billy McCarthy, Elaine Morris, Susan Abbot, Michael Azarian and Carol Piquette.
